SUMMARY OF EXPERIENCE

Nilesch is a registered landscape architect with 9 years' experience in firms across New Zealand and Australia. Nilesch's passion for landscape architecture comes from effectively creating environments that encompass all aspects of life from the built form to natural systems.

Establishing his career within the urban design team in a predominant environmental consultancy in New Zealand, Nilesch developed his skills in large scale developments. In 2011 Nilesch started work in Queensland documenting and delivering a diverse range of projects including hospitals, aged care facilities, streetscape and urban realm regeneration.

Nilesch has developed a range of skill sets including master planning, landscape analysis, concept design, and graphic communication, particularly in the preparation of CAD and 3D modelling software. By managing a variety of projects in both the private and public sector, Nilesch has also developed a thorough understanding of sketch design through to contract documentation and construction.
