Hannah joined the CUSP team in 2021 after graduating with a Bachelor of Design, Landscape Architecture (Honours IIA) in 2019. Hannah was a nominee for the Karl Langer Award of her graduating year and during her academic studies her design philosophy was inspired and developed by a keen interest in abstract art & photography, culture, ecological conservation, and the unique qualities of place.

Hannah has worked across a broad range of projects since joining the CUSP team, most recently assisting with the delivery of Stockland Development projects for Newport and AURA, and Queensland Parks & Wildlife projects in Springbrook and Mareeba.

In her professional practice, Hannah aspires to design spaces and curate experiences within the landscape that inspire unique connections between people and place through meaningful, thoughtful, and imaginative design that benefits both community and environment whilst endeavouring to make an enduring and positive change in the world.
